The Lincoln Highway Assoc. 2018 Annual Meeting

Since the first settlers landed on the shores of New Jersey there has been a desire to explore, develop and expand our boundaries. With this desire the history's of the state and the Lincoln Highway have become entwined. With the development of the Lincoln Highway from a dirt trail to a paved highway cities and towns were incorporated, businesses were developed and history was made along its route. "Sixty-three Miles of History..." provides an overview of the Lincoln Highway and its development within the state of New Jersey. The chapters are arranged by county, traveling as if on the original route, in an east to west direction, and it includes the most significant historical places and sites near or along the route of the Lincoln Highway.

Event Updates

Whether you're a first-time visitor to New Jersey or a life-long resident, this conference will be a great opportunity to experience first-hand the history of the Lincoln Highway in New Jersey, New York City and eastern Pennsylvania. Experience authentic Jersey diners, a mile-high sandwich at a New York deli, and Times Square, the eastern terminus of the Lincoln Highway (which also just happens to be where the naked cowboy plies his trade).

See You There: June 20-24, 2018
